What is a fundraiser?

Definition

A fundraiser is a one-time or recurring non-commercial activity organized by a third party (an individual, family, organization, foundation, or group) to raise funds for a selected charity with that organization’s approval.

Principles and methods

Apart from the costs directly associated with organizing the activity, all the funds raised are donated to the cause. Fundraisers rarely involve the sale of a product. The organizer has no commercial interest in the activity.

Fundraising activity are usually promoted within the organizer’s immediate network (friends and family, association members, colleagues or coworkers, etc.). However, they can also be much larger and intended for a wider audience.

Keep reading to learn more about how you can organize your own fundraising activity in support of the CHU Sainte-Justine Foundation.

Refusal of an activity

Under no circumstances is the Foundation obliged to accept a proposed activity.

Any activity that contravenes the law, public order or the Sainte-Justine UHC Foundation's Gift Acceptance Policy, Sponsorship, Fund-raising activity and Cause Marketing Policy and their updates, will be refused (copies available upon request).

In addition, an activity may be refused under the following circumstances, whether related to the activity, the organizer or both:

- The activity involves expenses beyond acceptable ratios (expenses must account for no more than 20% of the activity's gross revenues);
- An activity for which a consideration other than appropriate recognition is expected in return, whether this consideration is monetary in nature or constitutes any other form of benefit;
- The activity involves mobile solicitation and/or door-to-door canvassing on behalf of the CHU Sainte-Justine Foundation (Halloween events with schools are an exception);
- An activity purported to collect funds for a specific designation that would have no use for CHU Sainte-Justine or would not meet any of its needs;

What's not covered by the Foundation

- Management of the activity (room rental, truck or equipment rental, reception management, checkroom logistics, recruitment of volunteers, hiring of a caterer, etc.);
- Expenses for organizing the activity;
- The reimbursement process for expenses incurred to organize the activity;
- The sharing of the Foundation's solicitation lists and lists of preferred sponsors, artists, or pro athletes;
- The search for sponsors, auction items, or raffle prizes;
- The promotion or sale of tickets for the activity;
- Applications for permits or licences (e.g., meeting permits): although we are pleased to support and advise you with regard to these more technical steps, each organizer is responsible for obtaining the necessary permits for holding their activity;

While the Sainte-Justine UHC Foundation recommends caution and discernment in the conception, organization and holding of such events, it declines all responsibility for fundraising activities, which remain at all times under the exclusive direction and control of the organizer.

Applicable terms and conditions

1. Organizer's activity. Unless agreed otherwise, the organizer is solely financially and logistically responsible for the development, planning, organization, and of the conduct and progress of the activity, for which the Saint-Justine UHC Foundation (the "Foundation") acts solely as a third-party beneficiary. The activity is and remains at all times under the exclusive direction and control of the organizer.
2. Foundation and organizer. The organizer is not authorized to contract on behalf of the Foundation or otherwise bind the Foundation. The Foundation is not a sponsor of the activity and does not in any way endorse the goods or services sold in the context of the activity. Invoices must be issued to the organizer, who remains solely responsible at all times for payment to the contracted supplier or service providers.
3. Behaviour and compliance. The organizer must make all reasonable effort to comply with applicable laws and regulations and to act in a way that preserves the image and reputation of the Foundation, CHU Sainte-Justine and their respective and their representatives, employees, volunteers, partners and assigns (together "the Foundation and its entourage").
4. Solicitation. In view of contributing to the success of the activity, the organizer is authorized to solicit individuals and businesses by highlighting that the activity is for the benefit of the Foundation. Prior to any solicitation, the organizer must share its lists of partners and sponsors who will be solicited for the activity to prevent repeat solicitations that could be detrimental to the efforts of the organizer and the Foundation.
5. Contact person. The organizer agrees to appoint someone who will act as a contact person for the Foundation.
6. Changes to the activity. The organizer must keep the Foundation informed of any changes to the activity. The Foundation reserves the right to refuse any change that significantly alters the initially approved activity, or the risks associated with said activity. The organizer must keep the Foundation informed of the financial progress of the activity, according to a frequency to be determined by the Foundation. In the event the organizer chooses to cancel or abandon the organization of the activity, he must notify the Foundation as soon as possible.
7. Overview of the activity. After it has taken place, the organizer must provide the Foundation with an overview of the activity (on page 14 of this guide), including the number of participants, a full list of sponsors, and, where possible, photos of the activity. The Foundation reserves the right to publish this information, in whole or in part, on its website and social media channels.
8. Insurance. The organizer must hold its own civil liability insurance coverage covering damage and loss to persons and property caused by the organizer, its directors, officers, employees, volunteers, promoters, independent contractors, sponsors, partners, subcontractors, agents as well as all its beneficiaries in connection with the activity. Proof of insurance must be provided to the Foundation by the organizer at least ten (10) days before the activity takes place. The Foundation must be notified at least 24 hours following the termination, suspension or modification of said policy.
9. Risk disclosure. Depending on the nature of the activity, the Foundation may require the organizer to have each participant sign the risk disclosure and release form provided by the Foundation.
10. Confidential and personal information. The organizer must safeguard the confidentiality of all confidential information it may have access to via the Foundation in the context of the Agreement.

Among other things, the organizer must ensure that it puts in place adequate protections under the law and generally recognized principles of protection of personal information. The management of personal information of donors and participants of the activity must be managed in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. Among other things, Appendix C or D of the Agreement contains clauses that the Parties must include in their materials in order to meet their obligations, where appropriate (on page 10 of this guide).

11. Communications. The organizer undertakes to communicate reasonably with donors and participants, and to avoid excessive communication.
12. Bank account. The organizer cannot open any bank account using the name of the Foundation or its registration number.
13. Payment methods. The organizer undertakes to inform its donors, participants and partners of the applicable payment methods.
14. Objective. The organizer must establish a financial objective for the activity. The Objective includes:
 - gross sponsorship earnings;
 - gross earnings related to the activity;
 - (the gross sponsorship earnings and the gross earnings together referred to as the “Gross Earnings”)
 - donations related to the activity (the “Donations”).

If the organizer anticipates that it will not be able to meet the Objective it set upon signing the Agreement, it must notify the Foundation as soon as possible, at least three weeks prior to holding the activity.

15. Terminology. The “Net Proceeds” related to the activity are based on the Gross Earnings, minus any expenses incurred in connection with the activity. Together, the Donations and Net Proceeds constitute the “Revenues” of the activity.
16. Estimated budget. At least four (4) weeks prior to the activity, the organizer must provide the Foundation with a detailed estimated budget for the activity (on page 14 of this guide), respecting a ratio of 20% (expenses must not exceed 20% of the Gross Earnings). This budget must be updated as needed.
17. Expenses. All expenses related to the activity will be paid from the Gross Earnings.
18. Remittance of amounts. The organizer must, regardless of the Objective of the activity, remit all Revenues to the Foundation by issuing a cheque that includes the name of the activity, made out to the Sainte-Justine UHC Foundation and accompanied by a Financial Summary such as the one contained on page 14 of this guide, no later than thirty [30] days after the activity has ended;
19. Use of amounts. Generally, the sums collected in connection with the activity are used for the purposes pursued by the Foundation.
20. Levy. If the Foundation agreed to designate the Revenues for a particular purpose, they will be subject to the applicable levy.
21. Reference to designation. In all communications/promotional material related to the activity, the organizer must refer to the designation as agreed to with the Foundation without any alterations.

22. Variation of designation. Nevertheless, the priorities and needs of the Foundation and CHU Sainte-Justine that it supports may change over time, for example, as a result of scientific advances or organizational changes. In such a case, the use of the Revenues in accordance with the Designation could become, in the joint opinion of the Foundation and of the concerned individuals at CHU Sainte-Justine, inappropriate, unrealistic, impossible, or no longer relevant. If the Foundation determines that a revised designation is necessary, it may allocate some or all of the Revenues to other purposes, provided that they reflect, to the best of the Foundation's ability, the substance of the organizer's original intent, as determined by consulting with the organizer where possible.
23. Liability. The organizer assumes full responsibility for the activity. The Foundation and its entourage are not responsible for the actions or omissions of the organizer and of persons for whom he is legally responsible or for those the persons who participate in any way in the activity. It is also not responsible for any damages, costs, claims or lawsuits related to the activity.
24. Indemnification. The organizer undertakes to defend, hold harmless and take up the cause of the Foundation and its entourage with respect to any damage, cost, claim or lawsuit related to the activity.
25. Foundation resources. The Support section on page 4 of this guide presents the resources made available to the organizer by the Foundation in the context of the activity. The organizer agrees that these resources are made available to it on a voluntary basis by the Foundation.
26. Recognition. The Foundation will recognize the organizer's generosity in accordance with the recognition rules in effect.
27. Presence. The Foundation reserves the right to be present at the event.
28. Withdrawal of authorization. The Foundation, acting reasonably, may, at its discretion, unilaterally and without waiving its other remedies, withdraw its authorization to hold the activity for any reason whatsoever.
29. Examples of reasons. The fact that the organizer fails to comply with the applicable terms and conditions or that the Foundation considers that maintaining the relationship with the organizer is not in keeping with the Foundation's raison d'être or could harm or compromise the mission, values, programs, activities, public relations strategies, autonomy, integrity, ethics or reputation of the Foundation or CHU Sainte-Justine constitutes such a reason.
30. Obligations following termination. Following the termination of its relationship with the Foundation for any reason whatsoever, the organizer must : (a) remit to the Foundation all Proceeds up to the date of termination; (b) cease all promotion of the activity; (c) cease using, remove, and destroy all Promotional Material; and (d) cease using the Foundation name, logo, and official mark.
31. No return of any amount. Under no circumstances will the Foundation be required to return all or part of any amount already received.
32. Titles. The titles of the sections and articles are inserted for convenience of reference only and may not be used for interpretation of the Guide.
33. Entire agreement. The signed agreement and the Guide constitute the entire agreement between the organizer and the Foundation, replacing all prior discussions or agreements, whether verbal or written, regarding its subject matter.

34. Successors, third party beneficiaries, modifications and assignment. The signed agreement and the Guide are binding on the organizer and the Foundation and their respective assignees, successors and assigns. Any modification or assignment requires written consent from the organizer and the Foundation.
35. Partial unenforceability. If any provision of the signed agreement is found to be unenforceable (in whole or in part and for any reason), the unenforceability shall not affect the remaining provisions, which shall be construed to the extent possible so as to preserve the enforceability of the signed agreement. The Parties agree to, if possible, negotiate in good faith a replacement clause that best reflects their original intent.
36. Survival. Provisions of the signed agreement and the Guide that expressly or implicitly provide for their performance after the termination or expiration of the Agreement will survive the termination or expiration of the Agreement until such provision has been fully executed.
37. Laws and jurisdiction. The signed agreement and the Guide are governed by the laws of Québec (Canada) and will be interpreted accordingly. The courts of Québec (Judicial District of Montreal) will have exclusive jurisdiction to resolve any dispute related to the agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the organizer and the Foundation agree to first negotiate in good faith and attempt confidential mediation before pursuing any legal action.
38. Notice. Any notice under must be in writing and sent to the specified contact details (or any other contact provided in accordance with this clause). A notice is deemed received on the next business day if sent by email (with acknowledgment of receipt), five (5) business days after postal mailing, or the next business day following delivery by courier (with acknowledgment of receipt).
39. Signatures. The agreement (including modifications and notices) may be signed and delivered in multiple copies, including electronically, with the same effect as if all had signed the same document. All copies will be interpreted as an original and will constitute a single contract.

Rights granted and media relations

1. The Foundation grants the organizer a limited, revocable, nonexclusive, non-sublicensable, non-transferable, royalty-free right to use the Foundation name, logo* and official mark* (the “Foundation Marks”) for all promotions and visuals, and any print or digital materials, in connection with the activity (the “Promotional Material”), to indicate that a portion of the sales proceeds is donated to the Foundation. [trademarks of CHU Sainte-Justine, used under license by the Foundation]
2. The organizer must adhere to the norms of the Foundation Marks, shall only use them in connection with the Initiative and will ensure that they do not harm the Foundation or the CHU Sainte-Justine, or suggest an approval of products or service;
3. The organizer is responsible for the production and cost of the Promotional Material.
4. Any publication or distribution of Promotional Material, press release, announcement or exchange with the media requires prior written authorization of four (4) business days, authorization that may not be unreasonably withheld.

Sharing of personal information

The personal information of activity donors and participants must be managed in accordance with applicable laws.

It is the Foundation's practice not to collect personal information from persons under the age of 14. In certain exceptional cases, an organizer may have to collect personal information from persons under the age of 14. The organizer must then ensure he/she obtains the consent of a person with parental authority or a tutor.

The organizer is invited to include in their material the following consent clauses (checkboxes), where applicable:

"The CHU Sainte-Justine Foundation has a policy of issuing a tax receipt for eligible donations of $20 or more. By checking this box, you acknowledge that you would like to receive a tax receipt and thereby consent to sharing all personal information necessary to issue this receipt with the Foundation."

By registering for activity X, you consent to the disclosure of your personal information to the CHU Sainte-Justine Foundation, which will manage it in accordance with its policy accessible at www.fondationstejustine.org.

I confirm that I am 14 years of age or older. If not, I confirm that I am registering with the consent of a person who has parental authority over me or my tutor.

The Foundation agrees to include the following consent clauses in its materials (checkboxes), if applicable:

(Donation portion) By providing personal information to the Foundation or its authorized representatives, you consent to the Foundation's collection, use, and disclosure of such information in accordance with applicable law, including for the purposes of and in the manner necessary for carrying out its mission and philanthropic activities. Among other things, you consent to the disclosure of some of your personal information to the organizer of this activity for the purpose of recognizing your contribution. For more information, including details about your access rights, right to rectification, and right to withdrawal of consent, please see the Foundation's Privacy and Personal Information Protection Policy.

(Registration portion) By providing personal information to the Foundation or its authorized representatives, you consent to the Foundation's collection, use, and disclosure of such information in accordance with applicable law, including for the purposes of and in the manner necessary for carrying out its mission and philanthropic activities. Among other things, you consent to the disclosure of some of your personal information to the organizer of this activity for the purposes of following up on your registration and recognizing your contribution. For more information, including details about your access rights, right to rectification, and right to withdrawal of consent, please see the Foundation's Privacy and Personal Information Protection Policy.

How to issue tax receipts

The Foundation adheres to the rules of the Canada Revenue Agency and is solely responsible for tax receipts and their issuance, where applicable, in accordance with its policies and related updates (copie available upon request).

Tax receipts will not be issued to the organizer, but rather to those eligible to receive one.

The organizer must indicate in the detailed report of donors and/or participants in the activity (on page 15 of this guide) the value of all benefits received by any participant in the activity and provide supporting documents.

With regard to participation costs, the organizer must also indicate the value of all benefits received by the participant (e.g. food and beverages, entertainment, gift bags, etc.) and provide supporting proof, which must be deducted from the participation cost when determining the amount eligible for a receipt.

If the value of the benefits received exceeds 80% of the total cost of participation in the activity, no tax receipt will be issued.

In the case of donations made through a fundraising page associated with the activity and hosted by the Foundation, donors will automatically receive electronic tax receipts for their donation.

In all other cases of donations or participation in the activity, the organizer must provide the Foundation with a detailed report of donors and/or participants in the activity and the financial summary overview (on pages 14 and 15 of this guide) within thirty (30) days of the activity. This report must be submitted electronically, and include, for each donation/participation, the name of the donor/participant, the complete mailing address, the amount of the donation/participation, the method of payment and, if the donor/participant so wishes, the donor's e-mail address and telephone number.

Please note: for credit card donations, the tax receipt is issued in the name of the cardholder. For a donation by cheque, the tax receipt is issued to the name appearing on the cheque as the account holder from which the cheque is drawn.

Liquor licenses, raffles and other lottery schemes

Liquor permits

If your profit-making activity involves the sale or distribution of alcoholic beverages, it's imperative that you obtain the required liquor permit. This is a crucial step in ensuring your activity's legal compliance and safety. We strongly recommend that you consult the relevant regulations and take all necessary steps to obtain the appropriate permit.

To facilitate this process, we suggest you refer to the following link, where you will find detailed information on the legal requirements and steps to be taken to obtain a liquor permit:

<https://www.racj.gouv.qc.ca/formulaires-et-publications/formulaires/alcool/reunions.html>

By taking the time to inform yourself and act accordingly, you can ensure that your activity is conducted responsibly and in compliance with the law, while avoiding the potential problems associated with the absence of a liquor permit.

Raffles and other lottery schemes

When considering organizing a draw or other lottery scheme for Quebec residents, it's crucial to understand that these activities are governed by a set of laws and regulations.

With this in mind, it's imperative that you consult the specific provisions established by the Régie des alcools, des courses et des jeux. This will enable you to comply with current legal and regulatory requirements. We strongly encourage you to take the time to familiarize yourself with the applicable regulations by following the link below:

<https://www.racj.gouv.qc.ca/faq/jeux/tirages-et-autres-systemes-de-loterie.html>

By informing yourself and acting in accordance with these guidelines, you can ensure that your activity is conducted in a legal and responsible manner, while avoiding the possible legal consequences of non-compliance with current regulations.

Sponsors: Tips and best practices

Organizing a fundraising activity often involves expenses. For example, to organize a gala, you'll probably have to rent a venue, find a caterer, and hire musicians or a DJ.

These expenses reduce the funds donated to the Foundation. In many cases, organizers don't know how to curb expenses while still providing a great event for participants.

One way to reduce or even cover your event's expenses is to find sponsors.

Definition

There is a difference between a financial sponsor and a goods and services sponsor. A financial sponsor gives a certain amount of money to an event in exchange for the visibility of its product, brand, or service.

In contrast, a goods and services sponsor gives a number of products or offers a service at an activity in exchange for the visibility of its product, brand, or service.

The sponsor's visual identity is generally shown in the activity's promotional or visibility materials. The sponsor also benefits from the awareness around the activity and its visibility.

How to find sponsors?

Follow these steps to start finding sponsors:

- A. Build a visibility plan (also called a sponsorship plan); you can find examples on the web. You can also contact us, and we'll be happy to share our advice.
- B. Draw up the lists of sponsors who will be solicited for the activity to prevent repeat solicitations that could be detrimental to the efforts of both the organizer and the Foundation.
Note: Think of potential sponsors who are in your network or who would benefit from partnering with your activity because your participants are their target audience.
- C. Submit the list to your Foundation representative and wait for approval before reaching out.
- D. Once the Foundation approves your list, you can begin contacting potential sponsors.
- E. Make an agreement with the sponsor; you'll find numerous examples on the web. You can also contact us, and we'll be happy to share our advice.

Note: It's best to mention in your agreement with a financial sponsor that if your activity is cancelled after non-reimbursable expenses have been incurred, you will refund the sponsorship amount less these expenses.

Financial estimate for your activity

Please complete this appendix at two times:

- Before your activity: At least four (4) weeks prior to the event to validate your projected budget with you.
- After your activity: Within thirty (30) days following the conclusion of your activity and submit as instructed below along with your payment and official accounting documentation to support your fundraising efforts. Please make checks payable to "Fondation CHU Sainte-Justine."

Important: This appendix also enables Fondation CHU Sainte-Justine to calculate the value of tax receipts for your participants and/or donors.
